INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the first file in the new 'Reference Series'. I hope you enjoy that wonderful ASCII header... I think it looks very professional. Ah, and what a profession! This series of files is strictly for reference material, it isn't going to teach you how to do anything, or tell you a story, or give you any ideas... It strictly is for the more experienced fraud'ers out there that need good reference material, which is accurate and concise. This file is a complete listing of all the Equifax offices across this fine country of ours, their executives, their addresses/phone numbers, and what their specific task is. Now, if you can't think of a good use of this kind of information, stop what you're doing, buy a nintendo (yes, I said BUY) and let your mind rot even more. If you can... Congrat's and enjoy the file. Fuck the government and their regulations. Fuck the nation and it's problems. Fuck the world and it's rules... Remember, we all have a duty now that the 'threat' of communism slowly dwindles away, and that is to pose a threat to the government. After all, they need SOMEONE to blame all their fucking mistakes on...

LITTLE KNOWN EQUIFAX TRIVIA

~~~~~

Ah, here's just some trivial information about Equifax and their operation, to be used at your discession (and hopefully in an evil way).

Equifax Inc was started in 1899, as an insurance company. Now they are diversified into not only insurance, but information, software, credit reporting, collections, and market research. They employ a total of 14,200 employees, 1,200 at their 'super center' in Atlanta, GA. Their new worth is currently $243,500,000... With their sales in the billion dollar range.

In late June of this year (1992), Equifax made David Post (formerly the senior vice president of Wachovia Corp) senior vice president and chief financial officer for the credit services. Also in the month previous, they elected the following new directors: A Dahlberg (President of the Georgia Power Company), P Humann (President of SunTrust Banks), and R Barbaro (President of Prudential Insurance).

As of December of 1991, Equifax opened their doors to the new $30 million dollar customer service center in Atlanta. The new service center boasts a central processing system, with over 250 information consultants.

The current Chief Executive is C B Rogers, who carries the title of CEO and President.

CONCLUSION

~~~~~

Gee, and we all hoped it would never end... But alas, all incredible things must. If you have any comments on this file, and file I've written, and ANY THING for that matter, leave me mail on any of the below systems... They're all the shit and worth calling. Now here's one note towards a person, who will remain nameless, who complained about my spelling... Who gives a shit? The world is on the brink of destruction and all you can think of is my spelling... heheh it adds to the appeal of my files, even I'm not perfect, and I like to flaunt that fact.

Ok, now on to the immortal greetings, given in no peticular order to a few peticular people, who are peticular about being happy...

EREKOSE        DIGITAL HITLER        MAXIMUM OVERDRIVE (He's back...)
THE CHIEF      GRANDMASTER RATTE'   /<LUDGE (Fuck the world...)

And always remember...

The best times in life are when you're closest to death.
